A Message About Discipleship...

Alleluia! Jesus has risen! He has proven that He is the Son of God, the long-awaited Messiah, our Savior. No longer is it the law that redeems. We are made worthy by Jesus' death. He carried all of the sins of humanity to the cross so we may have eternal life. God is now the God of all people, not just the Jewish. This is the Good News of the New Testament.

We should be shouting this Good News from the rooftops. But when it comes to our faith, we, as Catholics, tend not to shout. We may not even want to talk or whisper about our faith. It's personal, it's private, and often it's hard to even put into words.

But this is not what Jesus wants. It's true, our Christian faith is personal, but it should not be private. In Mark 16:15 Jesus' final words to the apostles were, "Go into all the world and preach the gospel to all creation." This is called "The Great Commission." The apostles followed His directions. After the gospels comes the Book of Acts, which we will be hearing at the Masses following Easter. Acts records the spread of Christianity and the development of our church.

God commissions all of us to preach the gospel, not just the priests and church authorities; and not just then, but today as well. Christianity is faltering, even in the United States.

My words for 2018 are Wisdom and Witness. I am asking for God's wisdom on how I live my life, the choices I make, and my interactions with people, especially as I witness for Christ, sharing my faith in gentle and caring ways. I want to grow into "wearing my faith" proudly as a way of life rather than hiding it and saving it for those occasional "appropriate moments."

How do I do that? I have tried saying more spontaneous prayers with my friends and family. I am nervous and I might stumble, but it is from the heart as I reveal my dependence and trust in God. In my speech at my daughter's wedding, I shared that I love reading the Bible and read it every day and closed with a verse from Galatians. I rarely use the word "luck" anymore. I don't believe in luck. I believe in prayer. I want to pray with people, not just for people. I agreed to lead a Discipleship group and I agreed to write this, which are both out of my comfort zone, but I believe God brought these opportunities to me when I made "Witness" a goal for 2018.

And how do I get past my fear and discomfort? I pray daily and I ask the Holy Spirit to live in me and give me discernment to know God's will for me. The Holy Spirit grants me courage and strength to live a life that honors and glorifies God rather than conform to the ways of the world. We need to be renewed daily through prayer because every day is a new battle. God gave you a gift. He wants you to use your gift and spread the gospel. Pray about it, rely on the Holy Spirit, and go forth!

From the Desk of Deacon Bob

My favorite post-resurrection account is from the Gospel of John, in which Mary Magdalene, weeping, returns to the empty tomb of Jesus looking for his missing body. Two angels at the tomb ask her why she is weeping. She responds, "They have taken away my Lord, and I do not know where they have laid him." As she says this, she turns and seeing a man she assumes is a gardener asks him, "Sir, if you have carried him away, tell me where you have laid him, and I will take him away." Unbeknownst to Mary, the gardener is really Jesus. Moved, he then speaks her name, "Mary." Realizing it is Jesus, she says, "Rabbouni!" Jesus tells her, "Do not hold on to me, because I have not yet ascended to the Father." He then tells her to go to the apostles and tell them that he is ascending to his Father, "to my God and your God." Mary quickly returns to the apostles and tells them, "I have seen the Lord!" (NRSV Bible) The poignancy of this post-resurrection story is beautifully expressed in a poem, entitled, "Mary", composed by the poet, Elizabeth Rooney.

Mary

The Love I love
 Came in the early dawning
 Standing as still as light.

How could I ever have dreamed
 So sweet a morning
 After so dark a night? (from A Widening Light: Poems of the Incarnation, Luci Shaw, editor, (c) 1984, Regent College Publishing)

During this past Holy Week, four members of our faith community, Ralph Weiers, Robert Koppinger, Bernice Lambrecht, and Delores Hoffman passed from this life to the fullness of life, some of them dying during the Easter Triduum, when the Paschal Mystery of Jesus is beautifully and powerfully celebrated in the highest liturgies of the Church year. After years of diminishing health, all four fell into the eternal loving embrace of Jesus. I believe the last few lines of this poem, "How could I ever have dreamed, So sweet a morning After so dark a night?" was on their lips as Jesus lovingly spoke their name. May their grieving families and all of us who grieve similarly take comfort in these same words.

Guatemala Youth Mission Trip

This coming June, 6 students and 3 adults from the NPACC will be heading to Guatemala on a mission trip. Working with the San Lucas Mission, a typical day will involve serving those in need. The cost to attend this mission is about $1,700 per person. Our student missionaries have been working hard to earn enough money to go on this trip and are in great need of financial support. By supporting our students through your free-will donation, you will help us be the hands and feet of Christ to those in need in Guatemala. Donations by check can be tax deductible by making them payable to St. Wenceslaus and writing Guatemala in the memo.

A Message from Our Lady Of Good Help CCW ~

"Father Elgar was a great influence in my decision to become a priest", stated Evan Huebl, who grew up as a Mass Server at St. John, Union Hill, and now is a seminarian at the St. Paul Seminary. Evan was guest speaker to a large gathering at Our Lady of Good Help Council of Catholic Women meeting held at Koenig Hall at St. John's Mon., April 2nd. With 2 years remaining in his studies, he is currently being mentored at St. Peters in Mendota under Father Steven Hoffman. As an acolyte, he is teaching 8th grade religion, working with Confirmation students, helping with Holy Mass, for example, purifying vessels, and really enjoys getting to know the parishioners. Writing petitions, perfecting his singing, and role playing and practicing hearing confessions are just a few of the priestly duties he has learned. Evan spoke with joyful anticipation that in a year he will become a deacon and add giving homilies to his many duties. Evan is very grateful and thankful for his St. John-St. Scholastica community support and continued prayers as he works his way closer and closer to the priesthood.

A Note from Deacon Bob ~

My great thanks for all people providing such a wonderful liturgical environment at all three church sites of our parish community throughout Holy Week. We so often take for granted the liturgical environment, not realizing how the church is decorated moves us deeper into prayer. I so admire those who possess this beautiful gift of envisioning a space so artistically and then having the skills to make it happen.

I also wish to express my deep thanks to our choirs at the St. Wenceslaus and the St. Scholastica church sites during this most Holy of Weeks. Their musical leadership and their hymnody was an integral part of telling the greatest love story ever told.
